4N SPEAKER SEKIES

You probably have often wondered about the origin of the names given to places, streets, lakes and bridges in our town and villages. Where does the name Lachute come from? Why Morin Heights ? What about Harrington or Sir John's lake? The toponymic coverage of a territory is presented as an image of the human environment to which the vestiges of the past are attached.

During this conference, historian Robert Simard invites you to go in search of the memory and the name of the places which surround us.

Robert Simard Historian & Storyteller

Friday, June 11th at 1 p.m.

Join us on Zoom to connect live! To register contact info@4korners.org or call 1-888-974-3940 | 450-974-3940 ext. 601

Robert Simard is both a historian and an accomplished storyteller. Specializing in the history of Argenteuil, he has collaborated with the Argenteuil Museum on a number of projects for the past 12 years. He has chronicled the history of Argenteuil for the local paper; conducted research for the MRC on the Grenville Canal, the Carillon dam, the Dollard des Ormeaux Monoliths and more; and conducted a major research study on local cemeteries in Argenteuil ; he is currently working on a virtual exhibit on Maude Abbott and her family history. In this lecture, he will talk about his rôle as a public historian and storyteller, his field of research on Argenteuil history, the use of technology as a vector of change in history presentation and certainly about cemeteries. Robert Simard is the recipient of the Excellence Award at the 26th Laurentians Culture Grand Prix, History and Heritage in 2015.

4K Community Cup winner for June 2021 MARTIN HENSEN

One of the many ways seniors contribute to our society is by helping us learn from the past through their stories. And after 84 years on this planet Martin Hensen has a few. The most telling about him as a person, in my humble opinion, is one about an encounter just a week prior to our phone call regarding his nomination for our 4Korners Community Cup. Martin was out for a walk when he noticed another gentleman also enjoying the nice weather but uncomfortably hunched over his walker. As a long-time member of the Lions approached the man, ended up going back to his house where he was able to "fix it up," extending the walker height from 36 to 38.5 inches. Martin tells me that "once he got walking upright, he was tickled pink." Now, according to Martin's logic, this was a selfish act. When we speak about his numerous hours volunteering, he talks about how much pleasure he gets out of it. "When you do something you get pleasure from, who is that for?" he asks me. I am too speechless to answer. I cannot find a way to call a man with three different honours for volunteering selfish even in this context.

4Korners Activities - June 2021

I began this article mentioning storytelling as a vital way that seniors contribute to their communities. Another way is the ASTRONOMICAL number of volunteer hours they log. Martin is no exception. In fact, he may be the gold standard and has the hardware to prove it. The Medal of the National Assembly, 2012. Queen Elizabeth II Diamond Jubilee Medal, 2012. And the Sovereigns Medal for Volunteers, 2019. Martin has been a member of the Lions Club for over 20 years and put his experience as a bank manager to good use after retirement by serving as a treasurer at a few different organizations. When I ask where the desire to give back comes from, Martin tells me it could go back to his youth when he spent 5 years in Amsterdam under German occupation. "People had to band together to survive. Maybe that's where it comes from." It is another story I wish I could hear more about.

To have the kind of community impact Martin does is about making the choice repeatedly to be selfless. Martin could have kept walking on that beautiful day, but he didn't. He could have decided 20 years ago that he did not want to house an entire library in his living room to start the now famous Deux-Montagnes Lions Club's annual Giant Book Fair. Martin's wife Betty was actually the driving force behind the book fair that in 2019 had over 36,000 books for sale and is the second largest book fair in Quebec. When we end our phone conversation Martin is on his way to the hospital to bring his sweetheart one of the three meals he prepares for her daily. They have been married 52 years, "after seven and a half years of dating to make sure," says Martin, and I can't help but think, I bet there is a beautiful love story there to tell...

Congratulations to Martin Hensen, our 4Korners Community Cup winner for June!
