Join us for a workshop filled with compassion and information

In a setting of trust, love, and compassion, this workshop aims to clarify and explore the differences between palliative care, palliative sedation, and medical assistance in dying. We will also discuss how these topics affect us and how to talk about them with a loved one who is ill. You will learn to recognize the defenses, fears, and needs that both you and your loved one may face during the end-of-life journey.
