- ➡ Be clear in your own mind why you're making a complaint and what you want to happen to resolve it.
- ➡ Complain as soon as possible after the event so the details are fresh in your mind.
- ➡ Be assertive, but stay calm and polite. Don't lose your temper as this won't help you put your case across clearly.
- ➡ Keep a record of all correspondence – letters, emails and phone calls, including the name of the person you spoke to. It may help you to keep a complaint diary.
- ➡ Always give your contact details – name, address, phone number and email address – so that you can receive a response promptly.
